

In the small unrated markets that I am familiar with...single ownership of several or all of the dominant radio stations has led to less public access, less diversity of programming and rate fixing.